Era Of Isolationism In United States Fading Away

Demands For More Active

Aggressive Post-War Role

Heard Throughout Country

Even as her industrial plant grinds out the greatest war machine in history for herself and her allies, the United States is looking ahead to the peace that will come when the Axis forces are defeated.

What kind of peace is it to be? What part is the United States to play? Is America to help in a smashing victory over Germany and Japan, as she did nearly a quarter century ago, decline to join her allies in guarding the peace?

The answers are not yet clear. In a Canadian Press series of three daily articles, of which this is the first, America's peace aims are dealt with on the basis of statements made so far.—EDITOR.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(CP)—The United States government, and a good many Americans outside the government, are fighting the Axis and isolationism simultaneously. The dream of Woodrow Wilson is likely to come after this war.

Churchill Will Get Heavy Vote Of Confidence

By DEW MIDDLETON

LONDON, June 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Army of Victory and political strategy, backed by the House of Commons, is making up its government, will be the first of the forthcoming House of Commons battle over an important motion for a vote of "no confidence" in his direction of the war.

And political observers expect him to win an overwhelming vote of confidence—with perhaps 200 votes cast against him and a number abstaining from the vote.

THOMAS OF SPEECH

Supporters of Mr. Churchill predict that in facing the new and most serious political crisis of his premiership, he will deliver his opening speech on two basic themes.

1.—His expressed belief that the victory has turned as strongly for the Allies, that disaster has been averted, and that the United States can not check it.

2.—His close connection with the United States, whose entry into the war made victory certain in the minds of the British people.

These supporters expect the prime minister to discuss the inner workings of the military machine—up to the limits of military security—in a strategic planning which will be followed in Libya.

SHARPEN LIKELY

In the past, Mr. Churchill has taken on himself the full burden for decisions, placing the issue on his own capacities.

Many informed sources consider it likely that Churchill's opening speech will be a shakedown of the Middle Eastern command, perhaps summarizing Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, who is highly esteemed by the press and public, from India to defend Egypt.

One point on which the opposition undoubtedly will dwell is the warring of communications which they say gave an erroneous impression of the course of the Libyan campaign. The prime minister's supporters consider the best reply to be a parliamentary reading of the actual dispatches from commanders in the field which in the last two weeks of the campaign were almost uniformly optimistic.

Edmonton Airman Arrives Overseas

By DOUGLAS AMARON

A BRITISH PORT, June 26.—(CP)—Canada's overseas air force, landed a powerful striking force in the Allied war machine, was strengthened today by the arrival of a contingent of air and ground force crews.

Part of the convoy which brought troops from Canada included pilots, observers, air gunners, and the first two RCAF nursing sisters ever to come to England.

The RCAF personnel included a number of pilot officers who took special reconnaissance courses expecting to be posted in the Canadian Coastal Command. Instead, they were none expressed regret, they were sent to England.

The group included E. Stollery of Edmonton.

R.N.A. Act's

Branded Fraud

In Court Case

MONTREAL, June 26.—(CP)—

Robert R. Smith, Montreal engineer, told Mr. Justice Gauthier yesterday that he considered the British North America Act a "fraud" because it does not permit of the resolutions of the Fathers of Confederation at a conference in 1864.

Smith was testifying in his own defence during his trial on charges of infringing the Defence of Canada Regulations by publishing a pamphlet entitled "Must I Be Silent?" which the crown holds to be against the interests of recruiting.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Mr. Justice Parnell reserved judgment in the case after evidence had been completed and brief arguments submitted by counsel.

Defence seeks to prove good faith on the part of Smith and counsel that J. J. Parnell, quoted provisions in the regulations the goal of a faith should be considered a defence Crown prosecutor Gerald Fauteux, objected to produce the evidence.

Smith said he had written the pamphlet was to bring about a federal union among the provinces of Canada, because the B.N.A. Act did not represent a federal union. He had studied Canada's constitution for years.

A federal union, he said, was a union between sovereign provinces, and was not a union between a British parliament and the provinces. He said the B.N.A. Act did not conform with the desire for a federal union expressed at the conference in 1864.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Guenther

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Big, blond Lee Savold, a 200-pound tank of prize fighter who has been chasing Russians for 10 years, lamented today that all those stories about plots of gold are so many shameful fables, hollow shams and libelous deceptions. Savold finally has caught his brown and he says the thing isn't worth a quarter.

The brown middle-westerner finally lifted himself to the top flight of the heavyweight division a month ago in Washington. He knocked out Lou Nova and, for the first time in his long and varied career, he found himself in a position to commercialize his talent. But, he remarks dejectedly, there still is no gold in sight.

"There just isn't anybody to fight," the amiable youngster said somewhat dejectedly. "My manager has 25 offers from as many different promoters, but there just isn't anyone around to get into the ring with me. The only fellow I haven't beaten is either in military service or they aren't available. It leaves me with little or nothing to do."

29 Wins Out of 30 Starts

THE situation is serious for the Des Moines, Ia., boy who started boxing when he was 16, retired three years ago to work as a bartender and now is travelling along at a terrific clip. Lee has defeated 29 of his last 30 opponents and under normal conditions he could draw from $10,000 up for a single appearance. Instead, he can't draw anything.

"We have offers from Toledo, Little Rock, Memphis, Detroit, Tulsa, San Francisco, Wilmington, Hollywood and almost every town you can think of," shuddered Savold's manager, Bill Daly, while he kept large tears on the shoulders of his baby blue and black sienna sport coat. "But that money—and just that of that money—is going to waste."

"It's like this. We try to arrange a fight with Gunnar Barlund and we find he is working as a brick-layer. We say, well, Gunnar, here is a chance to earn some big money. And Gunnar looks at us and says he is getting $12 a week laying bricks, and that he has no intention of quitting such a good job to return to a business like fighting."

Pastor Won't Fight in New York

THE fight to get a match with Henry Cooper. He is working in a defense plant and hasn't any time to spare. We're already whipped. Buddy Bue, New York, and Eddie Simon and a number of others. The only boxer who can get a Bob Pastor. We have an offer to fight Bob Pastor in New York. But Bob Pastor refuses to fight anybody in New York."

By this time the vision of 23 $10,000 gates was proving too much for Mr. Daly. So I moved my way out of the city and back to Savold. It was quite a task interviewing him between jobs, but I learned a number of interesting items. The most intriguing was that Savold once shucked off 72 pounds, reducing from 262 to 190.

"I figured I was all through as a boxer about three years ago," Lee said. "So I started looking for a job. I worked as a steward for a while, then as a bartender. My weight went up to 282 pounds. Then I heard about a while ago tournament in Detroit and I thought I'd take a whack at it. So I began doing road work to get back to fighting shape."

Waiting For Something To Turn Up

ONLY 26, despite 10 years of experience, Savold took a 10-mile drive in the morning, rowed a boat five miles in the afternoon, then climbed seven and a half miles of mountain—up and down—before dinner. He did little gymnasium work and virtually no sparring. But gradually he came down to 190 and he won the tournament by knocking out five men.

Today he is in the best shape of his life, is hitting harder than ever, but has nothing to do except play golf—he shoots in the high 80s—ride horses and wait. The only bout he has scheduled in the distant future is an August match with the winner of the Tami Naurito-Red Burman embryo scheduled for July 23 in New York.

August is a long way off and meanwhile there are Mr. Savold, two small Savolds, Manager Daly and co-owner Hymie Waeman to be fed. "Things aren't critical, but if no work is forthcoming Lee may have to go back to boxing bar. He wouldn't like that, and who can blame him? It would be exciting fun to reduce 72 pounds again next year."

.307 Average Slumps To 180

Gerald Walker Just Can't Get Going With Cincy Reds

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—One of the saddest figures in baseball these days is Gerald (Gee) Walker of Cincinnati Reds. He was bought to add punch to the Reds' batting order and instead has been shackled by a slump such as few players ever have endured.

When Gee was purchased from Cleveland last spring for a reported $15,000 the Reds figured they had added a 300 hitter to their outfield. With their first pitching, they would have been willing to settle for 280.

Actually, they got a man whose batting average was .180, an official count and whose confidence has been shaken so severely that Manager Bill McKechnie has removed him from the lineup. "I can't figure out what's wrong," Walker said disconsolately. "I've tried everything to break the slump. For a while I was meeting the ball and knocking it right at some place, but now I'm not even doing that. I'm not even hitting my weight, and that's pretty bad."

It was suggested that he might be looking at better pitching in the National league than he did during the 10 years he was compiling an overall average of .307 in the American. National leaguers have long entertained this theory.

"No, I can't honestly say I've noticed any real difference," said Gee thoughtfully. "They're throwing me the same curves and fast balls and knucklers I got in the other league. They're not curving to death and I can't tell what the umpiring is any different. It's just that I can't hit anything. I never wanted to hit as bad in my life, because if I could give some more we would be right up there after Brooklyn. We got the greatest pitching staff in the world."

"It's all in the swing, I know that, but I can't discover what I'm doing different."

McKechnie says he is far from giving up on Walker. He says he never had a player try harder for him, and that means a lot to the team.

Lift Suspension

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—The Jockey Club stewards, who announced the suspension of Jockey Eda Hanford had been continued until July 26, yesterday corrected the ruling and said he would be permitted to ride starting Sunday.

Hanford had been on the ground for rough riding since May 5 at Jamaica.

250 MACHINE-GUNNED

Fleeing Civilians Strafed By Japs At Dutch Harbor

By LEAH HANNUM

SEATTLE, June 26 (AP)—First eyewitness accounts of the Japanese bombing of Dutch Harbor in Alaska, disclosed here today, revealed how heavy anti-aircraft fire and even rifle fire drove off the attacking planes.

And that the Japanese machine-guns strafed fleeing civilians "like rats in a trap."

Civilians among the 14 planes from Alaska (Dutch Harbor is in Unalaska Bay), evacuated to Seattle aboard army transporters, told interviewers that a Japanese fighter plane strafed them as they fled to the rocky hills for a safe hideout.

A housewife told how Unalaska's major-John W. Fletcher—who accompanied the evacuees here, directed the flight of five truckloads of civilians to the hills when the Jap bombers and fighter planes came over.

One fire burst burned for three days and nights, but the evacuation ship sailed for Seattle said Lt. Commander, Walter

ANALYZES CANADA TODAY

Isolationist Quebec Attitude Result Non-Existent Situation Declares Noted Speaker

The blame for the adverse vote on the plebiscite issue in Quebec can be laid at the door of leaders who for years have been preaching the unsound doctrine of isolationism to create an issue which had no existence in fact, Arthur L. Smith, K.C., Calgary, told members of the Edmonton Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs at a joint luncheon meeting held at the Macdonald hotel, Friday noon.

Gives Analysis

W. A. Macdonald, president of the Men's Canadian Club, was chairman of the meeting attended by about 300.

Mr. Smith pointed out several problems that confront Canada today.

NOW A RIGHT

The words of food, clothing and shelter in times gone by have been regarded somewhat in the light of charity but today the absolute right of man willing to work to adequacy of these three things is completely beyond question and it so becomes the duty of any government to see that they are provided," Mr. Smith stated.

Another international government situation is another thing to which attention will be given, that is the turn of Canada today is being open to the world, Mr. Smith stated. "I do not suggest it is wrong, in fact at the moment it is quite sure it is right," Mr. Smith said.

But the fact remains, however, that the parliament no longer operates this country and the danger

49th Veterans' Church Parade On August 9th

The annual church parade of the 49th Battalion (Edmonton) Regiment Association will be held on August 9th next instead of holding this parade on August 8th following the Edmonton Exhibition.

This change is made necessary by the fact that the 2nd Battalion with the band will be at Sarcee Camp. The change of date will, therefore, make it possible for the 2nd Battalion, with the band, to be on parade with the Association on August 8.

All members of the 49th Battalion (Edmonton) Regiment Association are therefore, requested to note this change of date. Further particulars of this parade will be given later.

Court Imposes

Eleven Fines In Traffic Cases

Eleven traffic fines ranging from $2 and costs for improper truck equipment to $40 and costs for dangerous driving, were imposed upon motorists who appeared before Police Magistrate Harold Howe, K.C., in city police court Thursday afternoon.

Colin J. Ross, St. Albert, was fined $40 and costs for operating his car along the St. Albert trail in a dangerous manner.

Eugene Pechee, Edmonton, paid a fine of $20 and costs and had his driver's license suspended for two months when he was found guilty of exceeding the 40-mile speed limit.

Pechee was the first to feel the effect of Magistrate Howe's determination to stamp out breaches of the new speed act, by imposing a stiffer fine and asking for a suspension of the driver's license.

HAD NO FLARES
Walter Pechee and Sidney Jones, both of Edmonton, were each fined $10 and costs, for operating trucks without flares and A. J. Leslie, Chip Lake, was fined $2 and costs for improper equipment, on his truck.

EXCESSIVE SPEED
Raith Henson, Edmonton, was also fined $10 for travelling on an excessive speed and Adolf Rader, Edmonton, paid $2 and costs for operating a vehicle while not in possession of a driver's license.

Getting Around
with Jack DeLong

And now along comes the head of a U.S. chemical firm who tells a government subcommittee that he can produce all the rubber the country needs from corn. And he says he can produce it for 15 cents a pound, a price going down as production gets into a groove.

The Inquiring Reporter
THE QUESTION
Has gasoline and rubber rationing been effective in reducing the number of accidents on the highway?

THE ANSWERS
FRED JENNINGS, carpenter: Undoubtedly the reduction of speed has been effective. There are fewer automobiles on the highway. Government contributing factors in the decline in accidents but there still remains the solution of the problem of the irresponsible driver.

HENRY TOMPKINS, clerk: The reduction in speed is a factor in the decline of the accident rate on the highway. Government and the automotive trade must prepare for the future safety of driving in readiness for the removal of the present restrictions at the very earliest opportunity.

PAUL HARVEY, accountant: Automobile traffic after the war will be a major problem and steps must be taken to make the highways safe. We are a nation used to fast moving traffic and the removal of carrying this traffic must be prepared to cooperate on national front in the future.

It will be one of the major ironies of history if, war fought to some extent for the possession of rubber-governing areas, results in rubber being a relatively worthless commodity.

And yet, under the impelling power of an almost desperate necessity, chemical magic is being performed.

Providence seems to be scoldingly pointing out to a careless America that the oft frontier admonition of "Obey your powder dry," is also applicable to this business of providing for vital needs right at home wherever supply is possible.

I Saw Today

Tom Jackson entering the legislative buildings. Frank Barker reading over on the main street about a street car.

Army Parade Will Feature Observances

All Reserve Army units in the city, returned soldiers' organizations and auxiliary war services, will parade to the service.

His Honor Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen, will read the scripture lesson at the service, which will be held at 2 p.m. in the city.

Opening hymn will be "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," with the first verse sung in English and the second in French.

SOLDIERS WILL PARADE
The service will be preceded by a mass parade of Canadian Army Troops, (Active and Reserve), Veterans' Volunteer Reserve units, Ex-servicemen's organizations, and the Alberta Women's Service Corps.

The various units will rendezvous at 10 A.M. and will start at 2 p.m. His Honor Lt. Gov. Bowen will take the salute following the services in the Stadium.

HENRY TOMPKINS, clerk: The reduction in speed is a factor in the decline of the accident rate on the highway. Government and the automotive trade must prepare for the future safety of driving in readiness for the removal of the present restrictions at the very earliest opportunity.

PAUL HARVEY, accountant: Automobile traffic after the war will be a major problem and steps must be taken to make the highways safe. We are a nation used to fast moving traffic and the removal of carrying this traffic must be prepared to cooperate on national front in the future.

More Canadian Reinforcements Reach Britain

By DOUGLAS AMARON
A BRITISH PORT, June 26—(CP)—Thousands of Canadian soldiers from a score of formations across the Dominion arrived in Britain yesterday to add more power to the mighty army preparing to invade the continent.

Less exuberant than their arrival but as keen as their predecessors to end the war quickly, the soldiers crossed the Atlantic in a troop convoy which also brought Canadian nurses, firemen, gunners, infantry, British and Honduras technicians and members of the Royal Netherlands army.

FAIR CROSSING
Fair weather helped speed the crossing and an escort of United States warships gave the transports such splendid protection that not one of those aboard reported hearing or seeing a single enemy plane. The Royal Canadian artillery and infantry regiments with batteries drawn from Nova Scotia and British Columbia service corps formations, a general hospital and the Public Health and Ordnance Corps, armored and forestry troops comprised the bulk of the contingent, which arrived in Britain in the last six weeks.

Rear-Admiral Sir Arthur Bromley welcomed the arrivals on behalf of the dominions office and officers of the British fleet. The service greeted the firemen, first large contingent to arrive.

Some were coming to Britain for the first time. Others were here in the first Great War. Many were returning for the second time in this war.

RACE FOR ACTION
All wanted to know immediately how the battle in Libya was progressing and expressed the hope that the fall of Tobruk would not delay the opening of a second front in the first Great War.

Among western gunners arriving were J. S. Mitchell, B.C. Roberts, Taylor of Prince Rupert, B.C., and J. Coyne of Lethbridge, Alta.

The bulky personnel of the recruits included L. Cpl. H. J. Bryant of Calgary and Ptes. J. A. McCormick and Ralph Ashton, both of Moose Jaw.

Lieut. W. P. McGuire and R. E. Fryer, were among the Calgary Highlanders, reinforcements with Lieut. M. P. Finch of Edmonton to join the Ordnance Corps, wearing the shoulder patch of the Irish Fusiliers, was a recruit for the Seaforth.

WESTERN NURSES
Most of the nursing sisters for the general hospital unit were from the west coast, but there also were a number of reinforcements for hospitals already established in Britain. Among them were Ruth McKinnon of Cupar, Sask., a physiotherapist and Nurse, and Margaret Thompson of Edmonton.

Medical Expense Tax Deduction
OTTAWA, June 26—(CP)—Payments to group medical and hospital plans and medical co-operative schemes will not be regarded as eligible deductions from income in computing new taxes. Finance Department officials said yesterday.

Deduction is allowed under the new budget for medical expense in excess of five per cent of the taxpayer's income paid to "any qualified medical practitioner, dentist or nurse," or public or private hospital, private hospital for.

"WORTHY HOPE" French-Canadians Desire Return Of French Canada Of Old M.P. Tells House

Secrecy Beef Shipments To U.S. Protested
OTTAWA, June 26—(CP)—Conservative House Leader Hanson yesterday protested as "a statement of the mind of House of Commons by Trade Minister MacKinnon that it is not considered in the public interest to reveal the extent of dressed beef shipments to the United States."

Mr. MacKinnon (Lib., Kenora) said he had picked an inquiry on the house order paper asking how much dressed beef was shipped to the United States during the first five months of last year.

The trade minister in his reply said the censorship coordination committee had consulted with military authorities of Canada and the United States and it was deemed inadvisable to give statistical information of various kinds during the war.

The minister said he could give certain information on statistics to a member privately if this were desired.

Mr. Hanson said he was dissatisfied from the point of view expressed by the minister.

"What possible good could result to the enemy by giving the information asked in this question," he said.

"This is a statement of the mind of bureaucracy and I want to protest," he said.

Mr. MacKinnon said he had expressed not only his own mind but that of his department and the government. It was hard to know where to draw the line on information of value to the enemy.

QUEBEC, June 26—(CP)—Hon. Louis St. Laurent, minister of justice, yesterday told the National Editorial Association convention that "Canada is in this war on its own, by its own declarations, and because Canada feels as you no doubt do that the interests of its own citizens as free men are at stake."

Mr. St. Laurent said that "Canada could have stayed out of the war just as she has stayed out, but Canada went in in September, 1939, because Canada felt then, as you yourselves must feel after Pearl Harbor—20 months later—that it was impossible to play out and survive."

Mr. St. Laurent spoke to the some 300 visitors from the United States, after Hon. J. T. Thomson, number of national war services, said that Canadians "will play their own part in the war and we shall be content to let the results of our contributions speak for themselves."

First Enemy Attack On Dominion Causes No Damage

General view of Estevan — Japs' shells fell beyond, blasted rocks, but did no harm.

Safely Ashore After Drifting Six Days

Burned to a crisp in the tropical sun, their feet swollen, lips blistered and eyes all but closed, the men drifted nearly six days in their tiny boat, blown 200 miles off the course they set for shore when their Canadian oil tanker was torpedoed and sunk in the Gulf of Mexico. They collapsed when they reached shore, and the picture, above, was taken when they arose from the beach after their sleep of exhaustion.

Ack-Ack Downs A Jap At Midway

Help On The Way For Sub Victims

U.S. Army bomber (note edge of wing at right) circles over sinking merchant ship that has been torpedoed by Axis sub in the Atlantic, while survivors among the crew pull away in the small lifeboat, centre. Bomber notified shore stations, which sent surface craft to rescue the seamen.

Siesta On Pacific Sands

Brenda Marshall—Mrs. William Holden in private life—poses prettily on the sands with a welcoming smile for someone in the offing. Miss Marshall will be seen next in Warners' picturization of the Margaret Kennedy novel, "The Constant Nymph."

Recruiting Office, India

This might be one of many Canadian recruiting offices, except for the costume, or lack of it, of the young man shown enlisting somewhere in India.

Powder Puff Pachyderm

This elephant is not only pink, but also polka dot. Lupe Velez puts on finishing touches with oversized powder puff. Movie script called for such a beast.

Pay Tribute To Russia As Rally

Celebrating one year of heroism by the Russian peoples on the first anniversary of the Soviets' entry into the war, 14,000 people attended a rally in Toronto. If the Russians keep fighting until winter, this war is won in easily foreseeable time, said Dorothy Thompson, left, noted columnist. When war came Russia's men and women shrunk from no sacrifice because sacrifice was equal, declared Chairman L. W. Brockington, right.

Former Ontario Mayor Overseas

In a Canadian anti-aircraft battery stationed near London, the mayor of one of the towns in which the battery was mobilized is serving as a quarter-master-sergeant. He is S. J. Ewart, former mayor of Cobourg, Ont., shown right with the battery, commanding officer, Major G. C. Howitt, of Napanee. The battery was mobilized in Belleville, Napanee and Cobourg, Ontario.

Allied Vessel Sunk By Japs

Hit by Japanese bombers protected by a fighter escort, United Nations cargo vessel has sunk and rolled over on her side at a pier in Port Darwin, Australia. Defenders are making the main more and more costly.
